

I understand that Sinclair Broadcasting is forcing their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary just days before the election. This is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. They have unbridled access to influence the voters of the country. This kind of action is an abuse of their license because they are interfering with democracy by pushing their own political views through the media they control.

If Sinclair is going to use the public airwaves free of charge, they must serve the public interest. While I object to them airing this program at all, if they do, they should be required to show an anti-Bush or pro-Kerry documentary alongside it. When public TV aired their program Choice 2004, they presented a program that gave a picture of both candidates and left the viewer to judge for themselves. That's what we should demand of all stations using our airwaves.

Please act now, before your inaction contributes to this violation of democracy.
